In 2002, the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) began investigating allegations that Iran had conducted clandestine nuclear activities. Ultimately, the agency reported that some of these activities had violated Tehrans IAEA safeguards agreement. The IAEA has not stated definitively that Iran has pursued nuclear weapons, but has also not yet been able to conclude that the countrys nuclear program is exclusively for peaceful purposes. The IAEA Board of Governors referred the matter to the U. N. Security Council in February 2006. Since then, the council has adopted six resolutions, the most recent of which (Resolution 1929) was adopted in June 2010. Most of these questions have essentially been resolved, but then-IAEA Director-General Mohamed ElBaradei told the agencys board in June 2008 that the agency still has questions regarding possible military dimensions to Irans nuclear programme. The IAEA has reported for some time that it has not been able to make progress on these matters. This report provides a brief overview of Irans nuclear program and describes the legal basis for the...
